Annual Chapter Meeting
Our 37th Annual ARLIS/SE Chapter Meeting was held in Durham, NC at Duke University, November 10-12, 2011. Our hosts were John Taormina and Lee Sorensen. There were 24 attendees at the conference.

Highlights of the conference included presentations by our members and a guest speaker:

“Collaborative Endeavors in Graphic Design” - Alessia Zanin-Yost

“Video as Instructional Tool in the Library” - Sarah Carter

“What Can Digital Technologies Do for the Humanities?” - Caroline Bruzelius, professor of Art History at Duke University

“Capturing the Creative Process: Terminal Projects in Fine Arts & Design at the University of South Florida” - Anne Lindell and Tom Caswell

Activities of the Chapter
At the chapter business meeting, the winners were announced for our 27th Annual Mary Ellen LoPresti Award competition for outstanding art publications produced by publishers located in the southeast during 2010. We had 28 entries from which four winners were selected.

Honorable Mention Book 2010: Treasures of LSU, edited by Laura F. Lindsay, Louisiana State University Press.

The chapter donated $250.00 for the Welcome Party at the 39th annual ARLIS/NA conference in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Hillary Veeder was awarded a $500.00 travel award from the Southeast chapter to attend the ARLIS/NA conference in Minneapolis.

Alessia Zanin-Yost is our new webmaster.

A sub-committee was appointed to review the chapter bylaws and make recommendations for revisions. Committee members were: Alessia Zanin-Yost (chair), Kathy Edwards, Lisa Williams, and Katie Riel. The new bylaws were accepted and made effective at our chapter business meeting in November. The new bylaws will be posted on our chapter website soon.

The chapter will pilot an informal mentoring program at the chapter level during 2012. A list of potential mentors and their skills/areas of interest will be posted on the chapter website. Mentees can select a mentor(s) based on their expertise.
