The RISS co-moderators focused much of their attention to developing and editing an electronic resource prospectus that proposed a plan to create a new platform and organization system for the ARLIS/NA Libguide and Pathfinder Directory, currently located on the RISS blog. Unfortunately, the prospectus was not accepted. The 2013-2014 RISS moderator and vice-moderator will work with the RISS Pathfinder Subcommittee to make the current pathfinder list more dynamic and usable within the current boundaries of the blog.

The RISS co-moderators put together a session for the 2013 ARLIS Conference in Pasadena which features all RISS members and a reference-inspired topic. The moderators will plan propose sessions for future conferences, as this was initiative was met with considerable interest by RISS members.

Emilee Mathews (Indiana University Fine Arts Library) will be moderator of RISS 2013-2014 and a search is currently in place for a vice-moderator and RISS blog editor.
